ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A data handling system for multi-user transactions has a central data processing device incorporating a data store structured in accordance with a predetermined progressive transaction involving cooperation between users, and a plurality of data access interfaces for the device for the respective users with defined access privileges. At least some interfaces are read/write interfaces whereby data can be read from and written to the store in relation to predetermined stages of the transaction in accordance with the respective privileges.